

Gregory D.L. Daniel, ESQ.

In the span of the last nine years, Gregory D.L. Daniel, ESQ. has submerged himself in several industries as well as sectors within the music and entertainment business. Since 2014, he has been the principal touring and recording drummer for Brian McKnight, recording 3 studio albums, a live blue ray, and continues to perform in countless cities and countries worldwide. He also continues to actively record and produce in the Gospel and R&B world.

In 2017, right before commencing his education at TMSL, Daniel became a Texas Licensed Realtor, specializing in commercial leasing. After completing law school and successfully passing the bar in 2020, he opened his own practice specializing in entertainment, sports, securities, business startup and development, and estate planning. As a securities attorney, he currently serve as the Chief Legal Officer for Truso, Inc, a new tech startup set to captivate the social media world. As an entertainment attorney he has been able to amass clientele across many genres of music and has worked with the likes of Alexis Spight, John P. Kee, DaniLeigh, RazB of B2K, Brian McKnight, BigCaz, and countless others. He has also claimed clients in the tv industry on projects with major networks and shows such as Starz's Black Mafia Family, P-Valley, and A&E.

In 2021, he became a National Football League Players Association (NFLPA) Certified Contract Advisor and currently represents several players, as the owner of Fierce Performance Agency, across professional football leagues, including a current Cincinnati Bengal (Tautala Pesefea Jr). In 2022, he launched one of the very few black-owned Real Estate Brokerages, after becoming a licensed broker here in Texas. Currently he is the Owner and Founding Attorney at Lion's Den Legal Group, continues to tour with Brian McKnight, and is the Associate Professor of Music Business and Assistant Director of Popular Music Student Enterprises at Arizona State University.
