COURSE GUIDELINES AND ADMINISTRATIVE INFORMATION

Welcome! I look forward to working with you this semester. Please review the information below, which sets out the course goals, methodology, grading methods, and student expectations.

I. Primary Course Goal: Learning the "Tools of the Trade"

This course aims to teach you a set of basic skills that lawyers use. These skills include analytical thinking, case analysis, and communication of legal analysis in writing. You can use these skills as a law student, summer intern, or practicing lawyer. More specifically, we will focus on the following:

- 1. Critical Reading and Thinking—learning how to read and understand judicial opinions and the impact the opinions may have on future cases, narrow and expand holdings in opinions, analogize and distinguish precedent, synthesize opinions, and interpret statutes;
- 2. Legal analysis and writing—learning how to issue spot, apply the law to the facts logically, develop and evaluate legal arguments, and objectively predict the outcome of a case in writing;
- 3. Legal research—learning how to research legal issues using books and computer-based research tools such as Westlaw and LexisNexis;
- 4. General writing skills—brushing up your grammar, syntax, and punctuation;
- 5. Citation skills—learning how to properly cite to legal authority in accordance with the Bluebook;
- 6. Professionalism—learning professional norms by being on time, prepared for class, courteous to me and your classmates, and timely with your submission of all assignments.

By the end of the semester, you should be able to:

- 1. Understand and interpret the law;
- 2. Identify legal issues in simple and complex factual situations;
- 3. Identify the relevant controlling and advisory legal authority and policy;
- 4. Apply the relevant authority to the legal issue(s) presented by the client's situation;
- 5. Analogize favorable facts, authority, and policy to your client's factual situation;
- 6. Distinguish unfavorable facts, authority, and policy from the client's position;
- 7. Articulate the legal significance of relevant facts;
- 8. Communicate and explain your analysis and position effectively in writing to colleagues, supervisors, clients, or judges; and
- 9. Use proper grammar and legal citation.

II. Course Methodology: Learning by Doing

The best way to learn lawyering skills is by practicing them. To the extent possible, participating in the course will be similar to working in a law practice. You will be learning by doing – by practicing each of these skills in class and through research and writing assignments.

In your other first-year courses, you study law primarily by examining appellate court opinions. This approach asks you to reflect upon the law as though you were an appellate judge, who sees the end product of months or years of winnowing evidence and analyzing the law. In this course, however, you will approach the law from the perspective of a practicing lawyer rather than as a judge. Thus, you will learn both how to develop a factual record and legal arguments for your client, as well as how to present your arguments in writing effectively.

III. General Information

A. Contact Information

Office: Rm. 221A Office Phone: (713) 313-1143

Email: ekelsaw@tmslaw.tsu.edu

Office Hours: TWTH 11 am to 1 pm and 1 pm to 2 pm, and by appointment. This means I am available to LP Section 2 for six (6) hours every week.

B. Textbooks

The required textbooks for this course are:

Lawyering Process I Course Reader (photocopied materials)

Coughlin et al, A Lawyer Writes

The Bluebook, A Uniform System of Citation, 20th Edition

The highly recommended textbooks are:

Hill & Vukadin, Legal Analysis: 100 Exercises for Mastery (a textbook of additional exercises and answers)

Garner, The Redbook (the style manual that is the authority for this class)

Black's Law Dictionary is also required for this course, and is available free of charge on Westlaw.

Except for the Lawyering Process I Course Reader ("Reader"), these books are available at Texas Southern University's Bookstore in the Student Life Center. If you have not already done so, you should purchase them right away. We will be using all of them very shortly.

The Reader can be purchased from Texas Southern University's Copy Center in the Student Life Center, Room 231 (2nd Floor). Please purchase your own current copy of the Reader from the Copy Center, as the Reader changes from year to year.

Also, from time to time throughout the semester, I will hand out supplementary photocopied materials. I strongly suggest that you use a large three-ringed binder to keep all of your class materials organized.

C. Class Meeting Times

LP Section 2 meets on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 10 to 10:50 am. LP Section 3 meets on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 1 to 1:50 pm.

D. Other Professors

Legal Research Professor Sec. 2: Prof. Collins Legal Research Professor Sec. 3 Prof. Tara Long

Advanced Grammar Review Professor: Prof. Kelly

IV. Assignments

The reading assignments and discussion exercises are listed in the course syllabus under the day of the class for which they should be prepared. Any written assignments are listed under the day they are assigned and a separate due date will be listed as a reminder. The syllabus also provides the relevant time that the other assignments are due and the manner in which they should be submitted. Modifications, including additions or deletions to the syllabus, may be announced in class, via e-mail, or posted on the course page on Westlaw's TWEN.

V. Paper Format Requirements

Please adhere to the following format requirements in your written assignments, unless otherwise instructed:

- All documents should be typed using Microsoft Word and Times New Roman font and, when a hard copy is required, submitted on plain white, 8-1/2 x 11 inch paper (using one side only) and stapled.
- The font size should be no smaller than 12 point font and footnotes (if any) may be no smaller than 10 point font.
- Margins should be one inch on both sides of the page and also at the top and bottom.
- Text should be double-spaced; footnotes should be single-spaced.
- Tabs, such as those used to begin a new paragraph, should be at least a ½ inch in length on your Word ruler.
- Each assignment should be consecutively paginated at the bottom of each page (centered); page numbers should be in Times New Roman font, conforming with the rest of the document.
- There should be no hanging headers, which is a heading at the bottom of a page. Each heading on a page must be followed by at least one line of text. Otherwise, simply hit the Return button so that the heading appears on top of the following page.
- Be sure to print a hard copy of your assignment and check to make sure that you have complied with these format requirements.
- Please remove individually-identifying meta data from any document you turn in, so the anonymity of the grading process is preserved.

VI. Grading Policies and Procedures

A. General Grading Information

- 1. Course Format: Lawyering Process I is a three-credit hour course consisting of three basic components: (1) Legal Analysis and Writing, (2) Legal Research, and (3) General Writing Skills.
 - 2. Final Grade: Your final grade will be based on the following:

•	Legal Analysis and Writing (Professor Kelsaw)	70%
•	Legal Research Class (Prof. Collins or Long)	20%
•	Advanced Grammar Review Class (Prof. Kelly)	10%

TOTAL: 100%

In particular, your grade for Legal Analysis and Writing will be based on the cumulative total of the scores you have received for the following:

•	Writing Assignment #1	3%
•	Writing Assignment #2	5%
•	Writing Assignment #3	30%
•	Other Assignments	25%
•	Participation, Professionalism, and Attentiveness	7%

TOTAL: 70%

"Other Assignments" include, but are not limited to, citation assignments, case briefs, tests, case charts, short writing exercises (SWEs), quizzes (announced and unannounced), and certain other assignments submitted in class or online using Westlaw's TWEN. Many of these assignments will be discussed in class. Any points that are not used on assignments will be award to all students.

This class is subject to TMSL's mandatory curve for Lawyering Process, as reflected in the current Student Rules and Regulations.

A: 10-13% B: 25-34% C: 35-45% D/F: 0-08%

Please note that the only way to have these ranges add up to 100 is to award the maximum in each category, such that 53% of the class receives a grade of "C" or below. As you consider a reasonable grade outcome for this class, please keep this in mind.

Participation Points: As indicated above, class participation and preparation will be considered in determining your final course grade. You can earn participation points in the following ways:

- i. By actively participating in class exercises and assignments, bringing your materials, and being prepared for class.
 - ii. By completing your court observation assignment. As part of your experiential learning experience, you are asked to observe live courtroom proceedings in any court of law. By the last day of our class, you must have observed at least three (3) hours of courtroom practice in person to earn 5% or 50 points for Participation, Preparedness and Attentiveness ("PPA"). Please complete the court observation form (posted on TWEN) and submit it on TWEN before the last day of class. Please dress in business causal or business formal attire and bring your resume. Every time we step into a courtroom, we represent ourselves but also Thurgood Marshall School of Law, so please be attentive and show your interest—proper courtroom decorum is required. Lawyers and judges are curious and proactive people; they may ask what you are doing and could even want to help you find a job or internship. If you have problems scheduling a court visit during the day, remember that some courts hold night hours. You could attend with a classmate or two, so you cut down on parking fees and assist each other with logistics.

Remember, you will have to go through a metal detector and will need to turn off your cell phone while in court. Your observation time begins when you are seated in the courtroom and the session begins. Do not wait until the last minute to complete your required observation time.

- iii. By contributing to a professional environment in class. To do this, please refrain from side conversations and do not leave class unless you must. Please keep scheduled appointments; if you must cancel, please do so with at least 48 hours' notice. If you miss an appointment, your appointment will be rescheduled after others have completed their appointments and as time allows.
- 3. Exam Numbers: Please use an exam number when submitting most assignments for this class. In general, you will use four different exam numbers over the course of the semester. For example, you will use your initial exam number for the first five weeks of class. During the fifth week of class, you will receive a new exam number to use for the next period and so on. You can receive exam numbers from Ms. Trudy Green, Registrar, Room 214A. I will instruct you when each exam number is ready for distribution. Any changes to the exam number policy or schedule will be announced in class and/or via e-mail or posted on the course page on Westlaw's TWEN. Exam numbers are important to anonymity of assignments, and failure to use one results in waiver of your anonymity as well as [deduction of points.]

4. Writing Assignments

- i. Writing Assignment #1 and #2: For Writing Assignment #1 and Writing Assignment #2, you will be graded on form and substance. The feedback on your memorandum for Writing Assignment #1 and Writing Assignment #2 will give you experience with legal analysis and writing to prepare you for Writing Assignment #3.
- iii. Writing Assignment #3: Writing Assignment #3 will be graded on form and substance. Consider this assignment as your "final performance exam or assessment" in Lawyering Process I.
- 5. Other Assignments: These assignments may include case briefs, tests, case charts, citation exercises and certain other assignments submitted in class or online using Westlaw's TWEN.

B. Consequences for Late or Over-Length Assignments

1. Late Submission of Assignments: If an assignment is to be submitted online using Westlaw's TWEN, then that assignment is due on the date and at the time indicated on the assignment, in the syllabus, or by me. If you are absent or will miss class, please make arrangements to have your assignment submitted in a timely manner; otherwise, you may not receive credit for the assignment. With regard to memo assignments 1, 2, and 3, late assignments may lose 10% of the available points (before any other deductions are made) for the first late hour, then 25% for time after that up to 24 hours, then 25% for each additional day. Any emergencies that prevent on-time submission of assignments should be handled in writing through Dean Mouton. No oral extensions are valid.

- 2. Submission of Over-Length Writing Assignments: For each page or portion thereof that exceeds the page limit for an assignment, 10% of the points are deducted. I will not review any pages that exceed the page limit. If your paper exceeds the mandatory number of lines per page or does not comply with the font or margin requirement, I will consider it to have exceeded the page limit and will adjust the score for the assignment accordingly.
- C. Attendance: Class attendance is mandatory, and roll will be taken at the beginning of each class. Please plan to attend every class session, as each class builds on the next and each contains important announcements and handouts that you will miss if you are absent. Per the Student Rules and Regulations, for this three-hour course, your grade may be reduced after five (5) absences. Please see the Student Rules and Regulations for other information on attendance.
- D. Laptop Use: Laptop computers are not allowed in class. There may, however, be certain days that I instruct beforehand, that you may use your laptops in class. On these days, you are not allowed to access the internet. Cell phones, blackberries, and similar devices must be turned off. Violation of this policy will result in a deduction of PPA points.
- E. Accommodations: Please contact Dean Mouton (Student Affairs) immediately (and definitely well before any relevant assignment) if you require any special accommodations regarding any of the assignments.

VII. Discussions of Assignments

You are not permitted to discuss with other students the governing principles of law or key issues relating to any graded assignment in this class. A graded assignment is any assignment for which the student receives points. These written products must result from your individual efforts alone. Thus, when writing a document, you may not receive help—verbal or written—with outlining, drafting, writing, or editing from anyone other than your professor or the WAs for the course. Please note that the help you receive from these sources should simply guide you to the best written work product that you are capable of producing. Please do not expect these resources to tell you how to analyze or organize your writing. That is what you are in this class to learn to do yourself.

Certain classes will be devoted to open discussion of the writing assignments. In these classes, you will be able to freely discuss with each other the assignments.

You are also permitted to discuss with other students the governing principles of law and key issues relevant to non-major, in-class exercises. In fact, these discussions will help generate ideas and hone your thinking about a problem. If you have any questions or concerns whether you may or may not discuss an exercise with your colleagues, please contact me beforehand to inquire.

Please note that if you ask me a specific question regarding the substance of Writing Assignment #3, I will either email the question and my response to the entire class, post both on the course page, or defer discussion of your question until a class session so that everyone hears the class discussion or my response. This rule of "silence regarding substance" is designed to protect all of you against the disadvantage of one student getting more information than others do on Writing Assignment #3.

VIII. Plagiarism

Plagiarism in any form is strictly prohibited. You may not plagiarize any other written work, including, but not limited to, another student's memorandum, a prior exemplar or sample memorandum, an internal legal memorandum, or any memorandum of points and authorities filed with any court. No person can review or revise your work—this includes classmates, family members, and every other person. Should an instance of plagiarism exist, the matter will be forwarded to the Dean for appropriate action. In addition, that work will receive no points.
