

Brandon Draper is an Assistant Professor of Law for Texas Southern University – Thurgood Marshall School of Law, where he teaches Criminal Law and Evidence. Prior to joining Thurgood, he was the Director of the Trial Advocacy Center for the South Texas College of Law Houston and the Assistant Director of the Mock Trial Team for the University of Houston Law Center. Professor Draper’s scholarly articles appear in leading academic journals: Northwestern University Law Review, Boston College Law Review, Houston Law Review, Marquette University Law Review, Elon Law Review, and Southwestern Law Review.

Brandon graduated from the University of Maryland School of Law and magna cum laude from Binghamton University. He was the Co-Captain of Maryland’s National Trial Team and served as an Associate Editor for the law school’s Journal of Business & Technology Law.

